PRESIDENT'S NOTES

Deanna Lamoreux

Leading the Houston Symphony League Bay this year has been "pure joy"!

We all have shared in this joy of music -- bringing music to the school children and to the community; and in listening to the music at all the meetings, at the student music competitions, and at the Houston Symphony. This music education and enrichment of the Houston Symphony League Bay Area for our community takes place because of an outstanding, all-volunteer organization. It performs like a symphony too, each member playing their part, serving together. The talent, expertise, and experience of each member are extraordinary contributions to our organization, and are especially appreciated when we are working together.

As we make our name HSLBA known in the community, we also are supporting the Houston Symphony. Spring, Summer, Autumn, Winter -- the Houston Symphony is performing! As both the Houston Symphony League Bay Area and the Houston Symphony end their seasons, opportunities to serve and to hear the music still abound.

The Sounds Like Fun summer series for children of all ages takes place throughout Houston in June. Dana Puddy will be signing up volunteers to assist in the Instrument Petting Zoo.

The Houston Symphony's Ima Hogg Competition finale is Saturday June 4 at Rice University. Tickets are $15 for students and seniors and will be available at the May 11 luncheon.

On July 2 at Jones Hall, the Ima Hogg finalist will perform with the Houston Symphony at the Chronicle Concert - $1 per ticket. Diane McLaughlin, coordinator for the Ima Hogg Competition, will have more information about the Chronicle Concert. This concert is the perfect time to purchase or renew HS season subscriptions as you can purchase one at regular price and another for $1.

June 29 - 2011 Young Artists Competition at the Houston Symphony presented by Fidelity. Seven students from Houston area schools are competing for the grand prize, performing with the Houston Symphony Pops at Miller Outdoor Theatre. Last year's winner was a vocalist from Clear Lake High School.

Take the HSLBA bus to The Woodlands for the Sunday, July 3 Houston Symphony Star Spangled Salute, or you can attend a repeat performance at Miller Outdoor Theatre on July 4.

Music has always been part of my life, beginning with $1 piano lessons every Saturday morning. Even in the remote part of the U.S. where I grew up, I attended community concerts that were presented by traveling orchestras for school children in the school gymnasium. These musical experiences were provided by parents, educators, and civic and business leaders -- all who experienced the Depression, yet knew the importance of music education for their children. The Houston Symphony League Bay Area shares this value. We fundraise locally to make music a special experience for our school children in our HSLBA school programs. At the end of May, the Houston Symphony will achieve a goal of matching funds and donors to meet their Million Challenge from the Houston Endowment. By adding our dollars and names to this fund, we will win the match! We will be part of a widening circle of music for all the children of Houston.

Members often are asked to bring a friend to a meeting or cookies to an event. This time, I am asking everyone to bring a check -- made out to the Houston Symphony in the amount that is best for you - any amount is a valuable contribution. Please bring it to the May 11 luncheon where you will have the time of your life sharing the joy of music with friends.

This has been a year of music education, my first time to enjoy a season subscription to the Houston Symphony. And, it is true love! I love the music, the musicians who play it, and the friends and family who share the concert experiences.

Thank you for calling me "President" this year! It has been one of my best performances!

29th President, HSLBA
Deanna Lamoreux

IMA HOGG COMPETITION

It's Ima time again! The annual Houston Symphony Ima Hogg Competition will take place June 2-4 at Stude Concert Hall at the Shepherd School of Music, Rice University. The semifinals on Thursday, June 2 are free and open to the public. Beginning at 9 am, 10 semifinalists will each play two concertos with piano accompaniment. At the end of the round, four finalists are selected. Those four then perform one concerto with the Houston Symphony at the final round concert on Saturday, June 4. Tickets for the concert are available through the Houston Symphony Box Office at 713-224-7575.

Ima Hogg was one of the founders of the Houston Symphony, and this event named in her honor has reached new heights since the addition of the Houston Symphony in the finals round, first done in celebration of the Competition's 30th anniversary in 2006. The Bay Area League provides a much appreciated lunch for the orchestra musicians and finalists during rehearsals on the Friday in-between Thursday's semis and Saturday's finals.

The Competition's silver medalist will perform with the Symphony at Miller Outdoor Theatre on Saturday, June 25, and the gold medal winner performs at the Symphony's Houston Chronicle Dollar Concert on Saturday, July 9. All Houston Symphony League volunteers get a FREE pass to the Dollar concert (what a deal!) along with an invite to the Symphony's Education Volunteer Appreciation event which precedes the concert.

Here are the 2011 semifinalists –

Mary Bowden is a graduate of Curtis and Yale and is currently a member of the Richmond Symphony trumpet section. She has won competitions in Switzerland and Australia, and was an Ima Hogg semifinalist in 2010.

Stanley Chyi is an oboe performance graduate of Northwestern and Rice. He has been awarded many prizes and performed with orchestras throughout the Midwest.

Violinist Eunice Kim is currently enrolled at the Curtis Institute of Music. She debuted with the Korean Broadcasting Symphony at the age of 7 and has participated in numerous competitions and performances since that time.

Cellist Benjamin Lash attends the Colburn School at USC. He has won numerous awards and competitions and has appeared in many solo performances around the country.

Pianist Esther Park currently attends The Yale School of Music and is a graduate of The Juilliard School. She has won several prestigious competitions in the United States and Germany, and has performed in solo recitals across the US and Europe.

Brook Speltz studies cello at The Juilliard School and is a graduate of Curtis. In addition to receiving numerous awards, he has appeared as soloist with a number of orchestras, and in recital with societies and festivals in several locations.

Clarinetist Maksim Shtrykov, from Belarus, received a DMA at CUNY and a MM at Juilliard. He has performed in recitals and chamber music groups in many locations throughout the American northeast as well as in Eastern Europe. His orchestral experience, competitions, and awards also span two continents.

Dawn Wahn is currently enrolled at Stony Brook University and is a graduate of Yale and The Juilliard School. She has won numerous string competitions and has appeared as violin soloist with orchestras and chamber groups in Alice Tully Hall and Lincoln Center, among others.

Siwoo Kim is pursuing a BM at Juilliard and is a graduate of the Music Institute of Chicago pre-college program. In 2010 alone he won the Crescendo Music Award and placed at the California and Corpus Christi International Music Competitions. Since 1993 he has had numerous solo performances with orchestra and in recital.

Just one more reminder. The food for which you volunteered should be delivered to either Cindy Kuenneke or Martha Daniels on Thursday June 2. I will call and remind you a week or so before that date. The finals are on June 4th at 7:00 pm at the Alice Pratt Brown Hall at Rice University and I will have info on parking before the competition. As it stands, you may use your credit card to enter on Saturday night. This year, the tickets will be available for sale at our May meeting and there will be someone there from the box office so you can purchase with your credit card or cash or check. The price for Srs. is $15 and students are $10. This is a real bargain when you consider there is a nice reception after the concert, while the judges deliberate, and the orchestra accompanies the contestants. If you have questions, feel free to call me and I will try to help. Diane McLaughlin

Outstanding Success!

As we wind down this Symphony League year, Deanna asked that I write a few words about our successes. Under Deanna's presidency, we have had a year full of wonderful events, good fun, and new ideas and adventures. I am pleased to say we also were successful at staying within our budget. We move forward into our next fiscal year with the security of knowing we have proactively provided for our obligations to the school programs, to the Houston Symphony, and to our membership.
